Our records indicate that you have withdrawn from ALL the courses that have already started for this term however, you remain registered for the course(s) starting later during this same term. The federal regulations state that a student is NOT considered to have withdrawn from the University if the institution obtains a written confirmation from the student at the time of the withdrawal that he or she will attend a module that begins later in the same term. Without written confirmation of future attendance, an institution must assume that a student who has ceased attendance is a withdrawal and begin the Return to Title IV calculation. This means that we will re-calculate your Title IV eligibility (Pell Grant, Direct Loans, and SEOG) and you may be billed all or a portion of your Title IV funds.
